Attachment No. 6
Consider request from Oakdale neighborhood residents to change the veneer material to clay brick on Fire Station #25.

Background: On July 11, 1988, residents of the Oakdale neighborhood appeared before City Council expressing concern about the facade of Fire Station #25, currently under construction.

Attached is a letter from the architect estimating the time (two months) and cost (approximately $70,000) to make the change. The time and cost estimates are the architect's and do not represent quotes from contractors. If Council approves the request, City staff and the architect stand ready to implement the change as quickly and cheaply as possible.

Because Fire Station #25 is under construction, the time and cost of the change must be negotiated with the four existing prime contractors. It will be a situation in which the City will be at the mercy of the contractors and the North Carolina General Statutes. The general contractor, Behr Construction Company, has informed us that he currently has his masons working on the interior of the building. He further states that the masons will complete the interior work on Wednesday, July 20 and will next need to return to installing exterior veneer in order to stay employed on the project.

Funding: Funding is available in the Annexation Fire Station Capital account. With present conditions in the local construction industry being very active, however, it is likely that all funds budgeted for the Arrowood and University Research Park Annexation Fire Stations will be needed. If this situation occurs, we will look at other alternatives at that point.

Attachment No. 7-S
Zoning Petition No. 88-44 by Province Development

At the June 20 zoning hearing, Council members asked for additional information concerning drainage in the proposed development. The Engineering Department provides the following information.

Stormwater runoff from most of the Hideaway Bay project discharges into a creek that travels through Verndale Farms and Verndale Park, ultimately reaching Campbell Creek. The stream crosses beneath three streets. The first is Butterwick Lane developed in recent years with a 54" pipe culvert. The second and third are Barcliff and Dale Avenue. These streets are in the older Verndale Park neighborhood and have 48" pipe culverts, which do not meet current design standards. We are aware that during heavy rainfall, yard flooding occurs at the 48" culverts.

The amount of impervious cover created with patio homes is similar to that of multi-family town homes. Although either type of development results in similar quantities of stormwater runoff, technically, the patio homes are considered single-family homes and are not subject to detention requirements. The proposed rezoning to R-20 MF (innovative) would allow the construction of patio homes, but not require detention.

A multi-family site plan including stormwater detention was approved for the subject site in 1984. Upon further investigation, we have determined the detention facilities for the previous site plan have been installed and will be equally effective for the proposed patio homes. Therefore, the rezoning will not adversely impact downstream drainage conditions.
