PREMISES OF THE PLAN

In the 21st Century, what will it be like to visit, work or live in Central Charlotte?

It will be a center of commerce, a focus for government and education services, and a hub for major transportation radials.

But what kind of a core city - its personality, its livability, its appearance are also dimensions for a truly successful city.

The following premises are the primary values guiding the definition of a vision for Charlotte's Center City in the 21st Century:

REGIONAL IDENTITY

First, the City Center should be a regional center for an area reaching into two States, thereby, serving to uniquely identify that area in the southeast region as well as the national and international arena.

ECONOMIC HEALTH

Second, the City Center should be an economic development magnet for the City, County and region, thereby, fostering specialized business, education and health services opportunities.
CULTURAL DIVERSITY

Third, the City Center should be a unique district characterized by intensive development and a mixed use pattern emphasizing cultural, entertainment and gathering activities, thereby giving a sense of individuality, of vitality, and at hours beyond 9 to 5 on weekdays.

LIVABILITY

Fifth, the City Center should be endurable over time and a habitable place for people; thereby, fostering an attractive and secure place for everyone.

DESIGN QUALITY

Sixth, the City Center should be a place where architecture and urban design are matters of public concern; thereby, fostering attention to the issues of sterile streets, impersonal buildings and lack of attention to comfort and safety of people as well as inadequate and poorly designed plazas, parks and pedestrian ways.

CONSERVATION

Seventh, the City Center assets should be protected from loss, waste or harm; thereby, assuring the long term urban and regional uniqueness as well as economic, social and cultural completeness and health of the community.

SYNERGISM

Finally, the City Center should be planned and developed as a unit considering how each part and function affects the others, thereby creating an environment where the entire area achieves an effect of which individual parts are not capable of providing.
THE PLAN

The Plan calls for Uptown to include a broader geography which includes area beyond the I-277 loop. Furthermore, the Plan looks like this:

- Serves to uniquely identify this region in a national and international context. The City Center is a growth magnet, an image maker, and a place that offers cultural diversity for the entire region.

- Attractive living choices that focus on locations both within and outside the I-277 freeway loop as well as look to higher density, mid-rise opportunity.

- Densely built employment core framed by a mid-rise building development pattern.

- Retail development that is focused in the North Tryon/College area with a significant presence in the South Tryon/College area, both of which are integrated with the Overstreet Mall System. Specialized retail niches are the development focus.

- Mobility that balances vehicular, transit and pedestrian movements and recognizes the long term imperative of transit to continued Uptown employment growth.

- Carefully located, well designed and effectively managed parking together with provision for on-street parking at off-peak periods.

- Environment that is designed for people by emphasizing the value of open spaces and plazas, pedestrian circulation, architectural design features of scale and context, and streetscape amenities.

- Accents special facilities and their location that set Uptown off as a special place within the region — cultural and entertainment offering, conventions, festivals, unique eating out places and NFL games.

- Emphasizes distinctive areas creating identity and special opportunities - Government Center, Mid Town/CPPC area, JCSU/West Trade Corridor.

- Calls for a significant educational presence with development of new facilities and innovative programs.

- Offers a secure setting where people can feel safe and comfortable.
DEVELOPMENT VISION

In creating a picture for Uptown's future, several development alternatives are possible. These include a continuation of trends with limited retail, visitor and residential futures, a loose knit growth form with modest growth of the core area accompanied by increased development at or immediately outside the freeway loop, a compact growth form that uses a strong employment core as the foundation for an ever-enlarging mixed use development pattern.

Comparing these futures is helpful in solidifying a development vision. A consensus on such a vision enables us to identify the important features of change and actions needed to meet our expectations.

A vision for Uptown's future draws from the notion of a compact core coupled with the importance of development beyond the I-277 loop and the linkage of the core area with the pattern of surrounding neighborhoods. Beyond the freeway loop, specific attention is drawn to the CPCC/Midtown and JCSU/West Trade areas.

The following design and development features serve to focus limited resources and civic energy on a few things that count most - not only in the short term but the long term as well.

Uptown Living. An attractive living environment is important in meeting diverse housing needs as well as creating enough residents to support uptown retail and after business hours activities and as well as reduce commuter traffic. The creation of neighborhood identity and convenience services for residents are essential. The linkage of Uptown with neighborhoods just outside the freeway loop is also an important feature for the future.

Currently the challenge is twofold. First, to continue the support and promotion for Fourth and Third Ward neighborhoods. Second, to develop a demonstration project that capitalizes on the potential for mid-rise, higher density residential living. This market demands a location of convenience to employment with a high level of site attractiveness and rental units tailored for a targeted population.
Working. Office development is an important component of the regional economy. The strength as a financial center needs to be maintained and used to leverage growth in other service jobs including recognition as a location of choice for corporate relocations.

The office employment core with its compactness and intensity provides a unique identity and value for Uptown. This character needs to be protected from disappearing with a dispersion of high rise office buildings.

Shopping. Specialty and comparison retailing together with restaurants should be given priority by defining ways to expand it in the Cultural/Retail District and the South Tryon area. Retailing is an essential element for the long term vitality of Uptown beyond weekday working hours.

Specific retail market niches in addition to office workers need to be clarified and filled close in residential sector, patrons of current and future cultural and entertainment destinations, growing number of travelers and visitors to Uptown; smaller, one of a kind entrepreneurs - antiques, tailored fashions, works of art, specialized gifts, imports, specialty restaurants, etc.

Getting Around. Mobility is key to the attractiveness of Uptown as a regional center. The essential elements of mobility are entering and leaving as well as moving from one place to another within Uptown. Private vehicles, transit and pedestrian systems require balance in order to support a sound Uptown future.

Transit service will be critical to fulfilling the long term employment growth potential for the city center.

Examination of routing and transfer options indicated the following:

- Continue to focus bus activity on Tryon Street but explore operational ways to reduce congestion at boarding areas.

- During the mid term time period consider shifting some more buses to College and Church to relieve pressure on Tryon.

- When service levels warrant, consider a single terminal option with the preferred location on the block bounded by Trade, railroad, Brevard and Fourth.
The Uptown Street System, within the freeway loop, will continue to operate at acceptable service levels. I-277 ramp and interchange congestion will require attention in order to offer feasible solutions.

Development of Shuttle service in the core area should be a short term objective.

Parking The amount, type and location of parking is a critical ingredient of Uptown's health and environmental quality. It needs to be carefully located, designed and managed for the future success of Uptown.

On-street parking can be a vital ingredient to enhancing activity Uptown beyond 9 to 5 on weekdays.

Designing for People The good city is a place that is safe, attractive and offers a comfortable environment. The design of circulation, parking, public spaces, and buildings needs to consider both the user and observer. An important question to be addressed is: What is the total environment that results, not just what does a single project offer?

Pedestrian scale should dominate our design attention in plazas, parks and streetscapes as well as in the architectural features of building at Ground level. It is noted that design character of the streetscape and building fronts are important elements for Uptown as a unique retail destination.

The Church and College Street corridors are proposed for special streetscape treatment to create a unique pedestrian scale and character as well as expand the Tryon corridor identity.

Accenting Special Features A livable city is one of diversity and unique identity. The Uptown offers this for the entire region. It is important to retain and enlarge this uniqueness. Special features of Uptown include the government center, cultural and entertainment facilities, and convention and merchandise facilities. The potential for a NFL sports facility is an opportunity to enhance the unique character of Uptown.

Emphasizing Distinctive Areas Uptown is composed of distinctive sub areas which require attention. They are significant and important because this is where people relate to each other and their environment most intensely.
A special identity can be promoted for the emerging cultural area of North Tryon Street. This area should be seen as having a solid retail development potential.

Special short term emphasis is needed to enhance the growth potentials for the Midtown/CPCC and JCSU/West Trade areas.

The Trade Street corridor between Five Points and Presbyterian Hospital offers an opportunity for development of a main street beyond Tryon, College and Church Streets.

The Seaboard Railway Station area along North Tryon and the South Tryon area beyond the 277 freeway loop offer unique development opportunities over the long run.

Educational Opportunity. Retraining and improving one's skills and knowledge will be increasingly important in the future. The Uptown location offers a central and unique opportunity to address these needs. The following three action steps are suggested: (a) develop a joint high school and community college program - middle college - for 11th and 12th grade students, (b) establish a high quality K-8 school, and (c) develop a strategy for phasing out the Grady Cole Center and Memorial Stadium for use by Central Piedmont Community College.

Highlighting Personal Safety. An active Center City requires a setting in which people feel a strong sense of personal security. The details of physical design and social behaviors that adversely affect safety require continuing attention.
ACTION PROGRAM

The Urban Design Plan establishes an overall framework providing guidelines for anticipating and structuring growth and change. The plan is not static, but a dynamic view of change that evolves based upon: an extension of the past's best, and accommodating of current realities, and a striving for future opportunities.

Implementation of a development program is expected to be evolutionary with an action focus on highest priority opportunities.

CRITERIA

A Development Program focuses on the criteria of consensus, time and key growth objectives.

CONSENSUS

Successful implementation is built upon joint public and private acceptance and support of a long-term vision for Uptown and a subsequent affirmation of the importance of this area to the larger Community and Region.

- Action needs to proceed both from a City Council adopted Plan and with public leadership
- Action requires private leadership and support
- Action will need to be built upon a partnership and the tradition of public and private sector cooperation

TIME

Implementation must be seen as evolutionary, occurring in phases. Economic market conditions and public resource must be taken into account as critical to selection of the earliest implementation steps.

- A three year action program is needed that responds to the most immediate public and private constraints and opportunities
- A continuing planning process is required to annually update action proposals over the duration of the 1990's. This is needed to avoid the feeling everything must be done at once
PROGRAM

Based on key objectives, on essential design principles, and on market conditions, the Development Program is defined. The thrust of this Program is twofold. First, it is intended to continue important development momentum now underway. Secondly, it is intended to initiate actions that can create critical movement toward the Center City vision.

The Program of Activities that follows is presented in six categories, each of which is defined in terms of the following:

- Action Expected
- Assigned Responsibility

Subject: Police Consolidation Study Committee

At the time our committee was established to consider consolidation of City and County Police departments, Police was the only department or function under discussion for consolidation. Since that time, Mayor Myrick and Commission Chairman DuPuy have established a joint study commission of both elected officials and community leaders to examine the overall issue of City/County consolidation.

Because we feel the issue of Police consolidation is secondary to that of overall City/County consolidation, we recommend that the Police consolidation committee be put on hold pending the outcome of the larger committee. If the findings of the overall consolidation committee warrant it, our review of Police consolidation can begin at a later time.

If you have any comments, questions or alternatives to suggest, we will be glad to discuss them further with you.

RE: Creation of an Ad Hoc Political Consolidation Committee

At Monday's meeting, the Board discussed the creation of an Ad Hoc Political Consolidation Committee. The Board received as information your memorandum dated August 30 advising that the Council planned to study the issue further and would discuss the creation of a committee at the Council's October 2nd workshop.

The Board suggested that a face-to-face discussion might be productive. Commissioner Autrey would like to participate in your workshop on the 2nd. If the Council desires, the entire Board could be invited to participate.

Please advise me of your decision.

RE: Political Consolidation

As you are aware, the Board of Commissioners at our August 7 meeting continued the discussion about the creation of an Ad Hoc Political Consolidation Committee. The Commissioners approved the attached composition and charge of the committee with the following change. The Commissioners supported your suggestion that the committee’s composition be reduced to two County Commission members, two City Council members, and six representatives from the community. The Board also advised the Chairman and Vice Chairman of the Commission to make recommendations for appointments to the Committee by the first week of September for the Board to approve or disapprove, and project for the first meeting of the committee to be held by September 15. The Board will make three of the six appointments from the community. The Council would do the same.

We would request that the City Council consider this item at your next Council meeting. Please advise me of the outcome of that discussion.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Members of the Mecklenburg County Board of Commissioners
    Members of the Charlotte City Council

FROM: Rod Autrey, Vice Chairman of the Mecklenburg County Board of Commissioners
       Sue Myrick, Mayor, City of Charlotte

DATE: May 25, 1989

RE: Creation of Ad Hoc Political Consolidation Study Committee

On April 17, 1989, the Mecklenburg County Board of Commissioners unanimously voted to ask the Charlotte City Council to join with the Board of Commissioners in creating a joint Ad Hoc Political Consolidation Study Committee. Since this time the mayor has discussed this proposal with the Council and has suggested adding more citizen representation to the committee. The proposed committee is structured as follows:

NAME OF COMMITTEE: Ad Hoc Political Consolidation Study Committee

COMPOSITION OF COMMITTEE:
- 3 County Commissioners
- 3 City Council Members
- 6 Representatives from the community to include:
  - 1 UNCC
  - 1 Chamber of Commerce
  - 1 United Way, etc.

CHARGE OF COMMITTEE:
To study the feasibility and advisability of full political consolidation of the City of Charlotte and Mecklenburg County. If political consolidation is determined to be both feasible and advisable at this time, the Committee would draft a joint resolution for consideration by the City Council and the Board of Commissioners which would create a formal Consolidation Charter Study Commission and state its purposes and powers. The formal Consolidation Charter Study Commission could be composed entirely of County Commissioners and City Council members, entirely of citizens who are not local elected officials, or of a combination of County Commissioners, City Council members, and citizens.
TIME FRAME FOR WORK OF COMMITTEE 90 to 120 days

As indicated in the charge, it is the Board's belief that this Committee would take the first step in studying full City-County political consolidation by determining if there is any common ground among City and County elected officials which could form the basis for a determination that consolidation of the City of Charlotte and Mecklenburg County is both feasible and advisable at this time. We believe that use of a facilitator could prove to be very useful in this part of the work of the Committee. Once a common ground is determined, then the Ad Hoc Political Consolidation Study Committee would develop a complete project process which would probably involve creating a formal Consolidation Charter Study Commission to make a detailed study of political consolidation, to prepare a complete and detailed consolidation plan and to draft all legislation that would need to be adopted by the General Assembly to achieve the agreed upon plan of consolidation.

If the City Council chooses to join the Board of County Commissioners in this venture, the Board of Commissioners would take the responsibility for designating a County Commissioner to convene the first meeting. Such an Ad Hoc Committee would need administrative support from the staff of both the City Manager and the County Manager, as well as from City and County Budget Departments and the City and County Attorneys. The consideration of selecting a facilitator and identification of the resources needed to hire a facilitator would be among the first items of business to be considered by the Ad Hoc Political Consolidation Study Committee.

We would appreciate it if you would place this on your agenda at the earliest appropriate date and let us know when it will be considered so that we can be present to answer any questions you might have.

MEMORANDUM

August 4, 1989

To: Carla DuPuy
Chairman
County Commission

From: Sue Myrick
Mayor

It has come to my attention that the consolidation issue is on your agenda for Monday.

I informally told Rod Autrey that I was in agreement with revising the community study committee to include two elected representatives instead of three.

If you take action on this, then I will present it to Council for a formal decision at our next meeting.

Enclosed is a copy of my May 5 memo to Council outlining my thoughts.

Enclosure
May 5, 1989

TO: City Councilmembers

FROM: Mayor Sue Myrick

I have been giving a great deal of thought to the County’s idea for a joint political consolidation study committee, and I believe that we need to consider a slightly different approach.

The current proposal depends too much, it seems to me, on heavy involvement of the elected officials with not nearly enough community representation. Our opinions and ideas, and those of the County Board, certainly must be considered in any study effort, but I don’t think we need to be in charge of this study, at least not this early in the process.

What I am suggesting instead, is that Carla and I appoint a small group of business and community leaders to study the consolidation matter and bring us a recommendation in 60 days on how to proceed.

Because consolidation has been studied so thoroughly, the work of this committee could be kept fairly simple—reviewing prior studies, interviewing elected officials; and perhaps, holding a community hearing on the issue. The County and City Budget Offices could provide any staff support that is needed.

Please let me know what you think of this approach. I would like to hear from you before the May 15 zoning meeting. At that time I will have a letter ready to send to the County representing the Mayor and City Council’s position.
